What delegates have said about similar trainings?

"I recently passed the Prince2 Foundation and Practitioner exams. Prior to taking these exams, I took a short (2-day) Introduction to Project Management course with Codub Consulting in London.

The course was a useful summary of the much of the latest recommended PM practice and covered the main aspects of the Prince2 methodology in some detail. The trainer was extremely knowledgeable and was able to refer to real examples drawn from her own experience as a Project Manager. The course persuaded me to take the Prince2 exams. Course logistics were of a very high-quality – from classroom and general facilities, to the course notes provided. Communication was excellent and handled in a very competent and friendly manner."
